

than for a State of nearly 3½ million people. But that is the way Bob was. He was always, pun intended, on our wavelength, always on our frequency.

That is what made Bob a legend. That is what got him enshrined in the Radio Hall of Fame, the same hall where Jack Benny and Bob Hope are canonized.

The life he lived and the legacy he leaves are even more amazing when you consider Bob's personal journey. He grew up in Kansas City, MO, with his mother, who rented rooms in their apartment to pay the bills. Bob made ends meet himself by delivering telegrams by bicycle and then delivering emergency drug prescriptions by motorcycle. After high school, he tried professional boxing as a welterweight, but couldn't quite hack it in the ring. So he headed out West to Los Angeles, where he got a few bit parts and took to announcing motorcycle races. Then, in the spring, 1936 season, a Hartford motorcycle race promoter recruited him. With no money in his pocket, not even enough to pay the YMCA the $1 deposit they required for a room, he came to Connecticut. Since then things have never been the same over the airwaves of our great state.

We should have a special appreciation for Bob Steele today. In this era of nonstop news, shrill political debate, and shock jocks, Bob's voice, one of strength, warmth, kindness, and gentle humor, will resonate for generations.

When he wasn't on the airwaves, Bob was a great family man, and a champion of literacy throughout Connecticut's communities. Bob helped create the Bob Steele Literacy Volunteers Reading Center in Hartford and wrote a book called, "The Word for the Day: 65 Years of Wit & Wisdom on Mispronunciation."

Wit and wisdom were two things he had in surplus. One morning a few years ago, when Bob blew a cue, something that was very rare for someone so seasoned, he recovered gracefully. "That 5-second pause was due to my inexperience," he said. "I'm new here."

The word of the day, which Bob taught us every single morning, was his trademark. In that spirit, let me suggest that one word exemplified every day in Bob's life and career. That word is "friend."

Our thoughts and prayers go out to his widow Shirley, their four sons Robert, Paul, Philip and Steven, and their grandchildren and great grandchildren. May God bless them and bless the memory of Bob Steele.●
